

Dr. Azam is a partner physician at US Anesthesia Partners Orlando and currently serves on both the national Clinical Quality Committee. Clinically he has served as the Director of Liver Transplant Anesthesiology since the program's inception at Advent Health/Florida Hospital over a decade ago, and has in-depth involvement in Patient Blood Management, Regional Anesthesia, and clinical IT. He has served on the FSA Board of Directors and Legislative Affairs committee. He completed his MBA from the George Washington School of Business, anesthesiology residency training at The Johns Hopkins Hospital, and a medical internship at University of Miami's Jackson Memorial Hospital.