

Dr. Steven Porter is an anesthesiologist in practice at Mayo Clinic in Jacksonville, FL. He is the program director for his hospital's Regional Anesthesiology and Acute Pain Medicine fellowship. He enjoys training medical students, residents, and fellows in all aspects of anesthesia, as well as clinical and research work in quality improvement and perioperative medicine.